NEW YORK LETTER.

VICTOR, Ontario Co., N. Y.,

December 7th, 1872. EDITOR RECORD: -I have just received two copies of your very interesting and ably conducted paper. I know not by whom they are sent, but whoever it may be, I tender through you my thanks to

You are aware that we, in this old and staid country, cannot appreciate or comprehend the life led by the hardy miner or frontier settler. We know comparatively nothing of the doings of the enterprising Piochers; and it is only by a careful reading of your valuable journal that we are led to see the magnitude of the business operations, the extent of trade, and the enterprise in your place.

This leads me to say, that if others who reside in your city and who subscribe for the BECORD, would do as my friend (whoever he or she is) has done, many of our people would, like myself, feel thankful to receive so valuable an addition to our reading matter, from which they would glean information not otherwise attainable.

When I look ever the large list of advertisements in the RECORD, I am led to the conclusion that the vast plains, the rugged mountains, the deep ravines, are no barrier to American enterprise, and that New York City is not the only place where trade and commerce exist; and when we look at the age of one and the youth of the other, who is warranted in saying that New York may not have a rival? I am led to contrast the beautiful village in which I reside to that of Pioche, as seen in the Raccap. Here we are, almost a hundred years old, with two or three stores, hotels and a blacksmith's shop, with a splendid farming country. three stores, hotels and a blacksmith's shop, with a splendid farming country all around us. Pioche, an infant, with her hundred places of business, her enterprising capitalists, all bustle and business, while here we plod along after the fashion of the shail. Why is this? I imagine that your moneyed men do not let the lock of their money-chest rust; the old blue stocking wants no mending from the dead weight of ages—it is cast out in a more lively business.

It is, perhaps, well enough for "old codgers," like your correspondent, to

COLLEGE anchor in an antediluvian chair, but to the young man who is in our midst, and can scarcely save a dime, I would say as the now dead philosopher said: "Go west, young man; go west," even unto Pioche. Yours,

A Tato or Fools.—Miss Maria Huntington, a Georgia girl of seventeen, who is stopping at the Broadway Hotel, in New York, was engaged to be married to a Fourth avenue clothier named Conklin. A few days ago she quarreled with him, and immediately went to an Episco-pal minister and got married to another gentleman named Walker. By the time the husband and wife reached home she changed her mind again and kissed him once, and told him never to see her more. Then she applied for a divorce and is to be married to Conklin as soon as she is free. It is not an easy matter to determine which of the three is the biggest fool

The Eastern journals announce the death of Miss Sarah W. Lander. This lady was a sister of the late Gen. Fredrick W. Lander, and was noted for her literary tastes and ability, particularly in juvanile literature. Of her series of sketches of foreign countries, published under the title of "Spectacles for Young Eyes," about 35,000 copies have been published. Miss Lander was well known to many Californians, who will recreat in to many Californians, who will regret in her death that of an amiable as well as a talented woman.
